Testimonials

"As a Director of Special Education for 19 years, AutismPro is the answer to finally providing affordable and worthwhile staff development for teachers who change the lives of students with autism. AutismPro uses both research findings and policy indications in providing administrators with a successful road map in designing professional development for autism within their school systems." – Dr. Concetta Russo, Assistant Professor, Seton Hall University; Former Director of Special Education, Massapequa Public Schools, N.Y.

"I'm very pleased with the tracking systems provided. It's a really great way to provide regular feedback to parents. The activities also are just right. They're easy to prepare and use." – Kathy Sottile, Teacher, Thunder Bay Catholic District School Board, Ontario

"The organization of multiple sources of complex information is one of the biggest challenges for educators. AutismPro Workshops is taking on the challenge." – Dr. Teresa Bolick, Psychologist, Boston, Mass.

"AutismPro is a valuable tool for teachers. It provides them with the resources and information they need all in one place, without having to wade through a library of books or conduct frustrating Internet searches. This software brings it all together and simplifies the process of delivering educational programming for children with autism." – Jackie Agnew, Educational Assistant, Toronto, Ontario

"It's nice to have a program where you can choose goals based on an understanding of the child's needs. The software is easy to navigate and user-friendly." – Isabelle Cowan, Psychologist, St. Stephen, New Brunswick

"AutismPro puts together a tremendous amount of information that will assist families and practitioners in being able to design an effective program." – Dr. Cathy Pratt, Chair, Autism Society America

"I think AutismPro could potentially serve as a powerful tool in helping guide professionals in the design and delivery of effective and meaningful individualized education/therapy for children on the autism spectrum. [The strategy plans] are clear and easy to follow. The content is very rich, covering a wide array of meaningful strategies." – Dr. Pamela J. Wolfberg, San Francisco State University, Calif.

"I like how you can combine more than one treatment approach. This is extremely important as flexibility in treatment means that we can customize interventions for each child." – Paula Aquilla, Occupational Therapist, Toronto

"As an educator who has delivered programming for students with autism, I know that AutismPro will give your staff the expertise they need to help their students and reduce everyone's anxiety." – Judith Melville-Bennoch, Central Coordinator for Autism Services, Toronto District School Board (Retired)
